

About LANA BACH and Encouragement Ministries, Inc.

Lana was married to Rev. Steven Bach, Founder of Encouragement Ministries, Inc., for almost 30 years before the Lord called him home in 2022.

Steve and Lana ministered in hundred of churches around America and in many parts of the world. In every place they found the same thing, good people who love God, but have been hurt and are crying out for healing. This same issue afflicts many believers and non-believers alike.

So many of us have been crushed by the pressures of life thinking that God is mad and paying us back for something we have done in our past. The truth is that God loves us and wants us to bring our wounds to Him for healing! Thus, Encouragement Ministries! Even when we love God with a passion and strive daily to obey Him, there will still be times of confusion and desperation in life that will make us feel like God is silent when we call upon Him.

Encouragement Ministries brings hope and strength to bruised and broken lives around the world. Whether it be a grieving widow or the broken heart of a parent, God is able to bring healing and comfort to each one.

Missions has always been the heartbeat of Encouragement Ministries and supports multiple missionary projects in Africa, Thailand, India and more. E.M.I. also partners with the Joyce Abraham Naomi Fund to help support widows of pastors who ministered with Christ for India.

Both Steve and Lana have authored books to bring hope in times of devastation. Lana authored two books: "You're Going to Trust Me, Right?" and "Single Again, Not By Choice!" Steve authored "I Found Life Through Suicide."
